

My Internship at Wrist

Jwan Adham Al-Yousefy
Marketing Intern

Feeling purpose is important to me. At Wrist, the emphasis on being customer-oriented allows me to find meaning in contributing to a purposeful mission

Strength in Versatility

From the moment I joined Wrist, I was welcomed by a supportive team, willing to nurture the diverse competencies each intern offers at the company. Some students might pursue an education that opens many doors while not knowing which path to take. At Wrist, I quickly realized that diverse educational backgrounds are seen as key to driving innovation and growth. Versatility brings fresh perspectives. Whether you are studying language, business or economics, unique backgrounds make a difference at Wrist.

Growth in Opportunity

My journey began with an interest in pursuing a study program that offers many career paths, leading me to a Bachelor's degree in English and a Master's degree in International Business Communication. The diverse skills I have gained through my study program have been instrumental in my role as a Marketing Intern, where my responsibilities primarily include:

- External communication across social media platforms
- Internal communication to foster a culture of transparency and collaboration
- Employer branding

Thriving in a Supportive Environment

My first impression of Wrist was its commitment to foster a supportive environment, reflected in my colleagues' eagerness to share knowledge and encourage me in my role. This has been key to gaining new and valuable experiences, providing me with:

- Safe learning environment
- Personal and professional growth
- Drive to continuous improvement

Easy to do Internships With

At Wrist, success is not just a matter of luck or circumstances – it is a mindset. Being at a place that cares about hiring interns from different educations and with different skillsets and personalities is extremely important to me, providing me with valuable real-world experiences.

Interns at Wrist are valuable because they offer new perspectives that open up opportunities and help us stay relevant and innovative in a global market.
