

Business Intelligence

Creating transparency

SHIP SUPPLY

Transparency is part of the package with Wrist. Be able to learn from your vessels' purchasing patterns.

Our business intelligence statistics let buyers see - item by item and ship by ship - exactly what they are spending world-wide.

www.wrist.com

“

Transparency and budget control are key priorities for our customers, and in the current market, ensuring optimum efficiency is business-critical.

■ Transparency throughout Wrist

Wrist uses the same ERP system all over the world, enabling us to create transparency across our branches.

■ Identify volume items

By knowing which items your vessels buy the most or most frequently, you can identify the items to which you should pay closest attention.

■ Data in your format

You can receive information in Excel containing just about any information about your vessels' purchases.

■ Analyze purchasing patterns

See where your vessels are buying which items. This helps you identify from which parts of the world you should be buying specific items.

■ Scheduled information

Get all the information you need on a regular basis to align with your internal follow-up needs.